

DAILY DEMOCRAT-FORUM

(Successor to the Maryville Republican)

VOLUME 1.

MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, FRIDAY, MAY 12, 1911.

NO. 288.

NEW FACTORY HERE

WILL BUILD SILOS UNDER NEW PATENT TYPE GRANTED.

HOME CAPITAL TO FINANCE

C. C. Young and Borrusch Brothers Farm Company and Will Market Product.

A company has been formed in Maryville to manufacture silos. It is composed of C. C. Young, John and Martin Borrusch. They will erect a building in Maryville as soon as they secure a location. They have several building sites in view.

A step door lock has been patented by the company and the patent was received this week. This door will be used in all of the silos that will be built by the company.

The step door lock and door is equal to or better than anything in the market, is the opinion of those who have seen it. It is a perfectly airtight door, with a simple step door latch, the latch making a ladder and at the same time holding the door tight to its place.

It is thought that a saving of from 10 to 15 per cent will be made on these silos over some that are now put out.

Several car loads of lumber has been ordered and is now on the way and will be here next week, when work will commence. The new industry will probably employ twelve men and will be one of the best manufacturing plants in the city. They expect to have salesmen all over this section of the country. The entire enterprise will be given to the new enterprise.

News of Society and Womens' Clubs

Attending Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Clark and J. S. Clark went to Savannah Friday morning to attend the golden wedding anniversary celebration of their brother, James Clark and his wife.

Will Wed in Wyoming.

Gilbert Halley of Sheridan, Wyo., the son of Mrs. B. C. Halley of this city, will be married on Monday, May 15, at Garland, Wyo., to Miss Ada Norton, who is the telegraph operator at Garland. Mr. Halley and his bride-to-be will make their home at Sheridan.

Presbyterian Missionary Society.

The house cleaning season made itself felt at the meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon. The attendance was small and some on the program were absent. The devotional service was led by Mrs. G. H. Colbert. A reading on "Siam and Laos" was given by Mrs. A. B. Gibson, and Mrs. J. B. Morrison read of "Christmas in Porto Rico." The next regular monthly meeting of the society will be held with Mrs. W. H. Brown, when Mrs. C. D. Leffler will give a report of the recent meeting of Plateau presbytery.

Little Girls' Anted!

The Woman's Relief Corps of this city makes request of the Sunday school superintendents of all the churches of the city, Protestant and Catholic, that they each appoint eight little girls of about the age of 10 years, to meet at the First National bank corner Tuesday afternoon, May 16, at 4:30 o'clock, where they will be met by a committee from the W. R. C. They will be instructed and drilled for the services to be held on Decoration Day in memory of the unknown soldiers. The exercises will be given in the court house square, so that all may attend and see this most beautiful service.

Dedicated Club Rooms.

About 100 guests attended the card party that was given Thursday night by the Knights of Columbus to dedicate their handsome new club rooms over the Alderman dry goods store. There were players at fifteen tables. The gentlemen's prize was won by Frank Barnmann, and six ladies, Mrs. W. Yehle, Mrs. John Schwartz, Miss Rose Schumacher, Mrs. Michael Lahr, Miss Kate Turner and Miss Katherine Kuehn, out for the ladies' prize, Mrs. Lahr being the winner. Both prizes were fine home-made cakes. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and strawberries were served. Among the guests were J. D. Baker, division passenger agent of the Burlington, and J. D. O'Brien, a member of the board of regents of the Northwest Normal, both of St. Joseph.

Missionary Tea.

Fifty ladies attended the missionary tea given by the Woman's Missionary society of the First Baptist church at the home of one of its members, Mrs. G. B. Holmes, Thursday afternoon. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. J. L. Jones. The study for the afternoon was introduced and conducted by Mrs. Eugene Ogden, the president. The subject was "Home Missions," and dealt with educational work among the negroes of the south. There are thirty institutions of learning under control of the Baptists, and nine others that are self-supporting. The colored women of Kentucky have just erected a domestic science dormitory for their institute at Louisville, Ky., at a cost of $20,000. Howell Institute, at Memphis, Tenn., has 500 students, representing nine states, and forty denominations. Mrs. Flora Quinn spoke of Spelman Bible Institute for Girls at Atlanta, Ga., which has 640 students. Mrs. Lewis White gave a fine review of Booker T. Washington's book, "Up From Slavery," and a history of his life and work that was intensely interesting. The institute of which he is president, at Tuskegee, Ga., has 2,500 students, sixty buildings, 2,600 acres of land, 11,000 head of stock, and a big array of machinery, vehicles and automobiles, that are necessary for its equipment, all the work about the buildings and on the lands being done by the negroes attending the institute. After the program a fine social time was enjoyed and refreshments served. The guests were Mrs. Frank Owens, Mrs. M. A. Perry, Miss Levy of Marshall, Mo., Mrs. E. B. Sheldon, Mrs. Olive Graves and Miss Edith Coleman of Villisca, Ia.

Mrs. Robinson's Reception.

Mrs. F. P. Robinson received seventy-five guests Thursday afternoon to honor her sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles T. Bell of this city, and Miss Mary Campbell of Kansas City, who is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. George B. Baker and Mrs. Edward F. Wolfert. The guests were served with punch on their arrival in the hallway upstairs, which had been converted into a bower of wild crab apple blossoms, by Mrs. George B. Baker, Mrs. Ferdinand Townsend, Mrs. Ralph Eversole and Miss Maud McCluskey. Returning to the parlors they were received by the hostess, Mrs. Charles T. Bell and Miss Campbell. The color scheme of lavender and green were carried out in the parlors and living rooms. Lilacs were the flowers used, and were tastefully arranged with ferns. In the dining room the stately tulip held sway with trailing vines of snailax. A one-course luncheon was served in lavender. Assisting the hostess were her mother, Mrs. Katherine Miller, her sister-in-law, Mrs. James B. Robinson, and her daughters, Miss Mildred Robinson and little Miss Virginia Robinson. In the games at dominos Miss Beryl Taylor of Graham, who is visiting Mrs. Merrill Alderman, won the guest prize, a silver spoon. The hostess presented the out-of-town guest of honor, Miss Campbell, a basket of sweet peas. The game prize, a water color picture, was won by Mrs. R. G. Sanders. After the games a most delightful program of vocal numbers was given by Mrs. Ferdinand Townsend, Miss Campbell, Mrs. F. P. Robinson, the latter being accompanied by her daughter, Miss Mildred. It was a beautiful afternoon in every way. The whole interior of the home appeared like a garden under the lilacs, while the beautiful costumes of the guests greatly enhanced the scene. Mrs. Bell, a January bride, wore her wedding gown of white satin with lace and pearly trimmings. Miss Campbell's gown was of white lace, and the hostess wore a pale blue marquisette over pale messaline.

Work Commenced on New Building.

Work was commenced this week on the new building on South Market street, south of Bright's barn. The building is being built by C. Edward Signs and M. Nusbaum, and has been leased by the Clarinda Produce company.

Gone to Minnesota.

Mrs. J. L. Ritze left Friday noon for St. Paul, Minn., to visit her daughters, Mrs. Robert Health, and Misses Bertha and Nora Ritze. Mrs. Ritze will remain until the close of the school year and return with her daughters, the Misses Ritze, who are teachers in the public schools of Minneapolis.

Mrs. N. F. Humber returned to her home in St. Joseph Friday morning, after a week's visit in Maryville with her sister, Mrs. S. G. Seelman.

A MOTHERS' SERMON

"A GARDEN OF OLD FASHIONED FLOWERS" THE BASIS.

A BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTE

Next Sunday is "Mother's Day"—Will You Wear a Flower for Her?

Rev. L. O. Bricker, pastor of the First Christian church of this city, has the following appropriate article in "The Christian Call" of this week, on the subject of "A Garden of Old-Fashioned Flowers," or a sermon for "Mother's Day," which is to be celebrated on Sunday by the churches over the United States:

Everybody has tried to recall the first thing they remembered as a child, I suppose, and none of us have ever been absolutely certain which thing it was. For myself, I do not know whether it was the one-armed doll, the red shoes, the turtle that lived in the pond where the horses drank, or whether it was the flower garden. But I know that the flower garden was one of the first things. I do not remember the flowers, only that there was a sea of them. But what I do remember clearest of all, is the lady whom I saw and loved in the garden of old-fashioned flowers. She had the waviest hair and blackest of hair, combed low over her forehead; great brown eyes, full of fire and tenderness, and lips which were made for smiling. She was little and plump and lithesome, and I thought she was very beautiful; she was but little more than a girl. The house was old with great white pillars in front, and a long low kitchen in the rear. But I do not remember her in the house, it is always in the flower garden that I see her at work among the flowers, or playing with the child. At first I thought she did nothing else except play with the child and tend the flowers. Later I learned that life was a very serious thing with this lady, and that the child and flowers were her only recreation. The cares of a housewife on a big farm were hers, and she was only twenty-three years old. The boy was her first baby; when he cried the girl mother cried, when he laughed she was happy. Like Mary of Nazareth, after whom she was named, her heart was in the cradle with the child. Often and often she prayed, but what did she pray? I may not tell, for I do not know. Nobody except God and the angels know what a mother says in her prayers. But this much I know; her heart was anxious about the future and about the kind of a man her boy would grow up to be. Like Jacob of old, she wrestled often in prayer and grew very intimate with God. Together the Heavenly Father and the earthly mother made plans for the child. All that she hoped and prayed for will probably never be fulfilled; and yet I tell you no man can ever have for himself a nobler task, or a holier hope than to fulfill his mother's prayers. Of course, I knew nothing of these things until years after. Out of the golden cloud which floated over my childhood, just two things are clear and distinct; an old-fashioned girl mother, in a garden of old-fashioned flowers. But I remember another day as though it were yesterday. The child was out in the garden, only he did not seem to be a child; he was grown up in a day. He was crying and saying, "O God, O Mother," for they had told him that his mother would die. It was the first time the boy ever prayed, and I think he made the best prayer he ever prayed. He told God that he could not live without his mother, and that if God would let her live he would give Him his big doll, his tin horn, his wagon and everything he had. And God told the boy that his mother would live. Just then the boy's father came out into the garden. It was the first time the boy knew his father. Of course he had seen his father's face always, a little stern and not much given to expressing emotions, but this time there were tears in the father's eyes, and the child knew him for a tender heart. And for the first time in his life the boy put his arms around his father's neck and told him not to cry, for God had told him that mother would get well. The father was much pleased. He went into the house and told the doctor and the nurses and the mother. Nobody made much of the boy's prayer, except the boy's mother. Her face shone. She reached out her hand and drew the boy's face down to hers and whispered: "Yes, I know mother will get well now, because her little man has prayed for her." I think it was this that saved the boy from unbelief, and made him a Christian. After that, for many years I was very familiar with the flower garden. The woman, restored to health, grew rapidly older with her many cares. Other children came, and the boy had two sisters for his playmates. He bossed

WORK TO COMMENCE ON NORMAL BUILDING

The contractors for the Normal building arrived in the city Thursday from St. Joseph and work will commence at once on finishing the new Normal building. The St. Joseph Construction company has the contract for finishing the building. The painters were also here, and the painting work will start next week.

COMETS PLAYED THE NORMAL TEAM

A good game of ball was witnessed Thursday afternoon by those who saw the Comets and Normals play. The Normals used Comet pitchers, but they gave their twirlers good support and did some pretty classy stick work themselves against the leaguers. At the beginning of the seventh the score was 2 to 1 for the Comets, and all were earned runs. In that inning the Comets put three more across, totaling five, but those last three runs were far from being earned.

It looked as though a hoodoo had started to get in its work when Mesaplay got his thumb split and Johnson turned his ankle, but the injuries were not as severe as at first thought.

U. C. T. LUNCHEON THIS EVENING

The U. C. T. will give a luncheon this evening in the Commercial club rooms. Many of the business men of the city have been invited and seventy have accepted. The luncheon is to be at 8:30, and speeches will be given by Rev. W. J. Parvin, George L. Wilfley, Robert Crail and Adolph Lippman.

An invitation has been extended to Charles Bower of Hannibal, who is grand counselor of the U. C. T. of Missouri. Mr. Bower will be here if possible.

HOPKINS HAS RAISED $500 FOR GOOD ROADS

Hopkins is working hard on the good roads movement, and wants to go on the route of the "Saints Trail." They have a number of business men who are doing some effective work and the following from this week's Hopkins Journal show what they have already accomplished:

Between $500 and $600 was subscribed by Hopkins business men on Monday to apply on improving the road over the route we are fighting for and this with what the farmers and the township board will contribute, will put the road in fine condition.

TRIP OVER PROPOSED "SAINTS TRIAL"

A representative of The Democrat-Forum accepted an invitation Thursday afternoon to join S. G. Gilliam and S. H. Kemp in an auto ride over the proposed "Saints Trail" toward Gaynor City. The trip was made in Mr. Gilliam's fine new Cadillac car, which is one of the smoothest running and speediest made. Most of the road was in fine condition and the car was driven by Charlie Martin, the colored chauffeur, who set a pace that would make Barney Oldfield look like a piker. The dogs that ran out to meet the machine invariably missed it by twenty-five to fifty feet, because they didn't start soon enough. Wheat is looking well and corn is coming up nicely.

NORMAL TO PLAY AMITY COLLEGE

The Normal ball team will play Amity college of College Springs, Ia., Saturday afternoon on the Normal grounds at 3 o'clock. Amity is the only school team that has defeated the Normal team, and the Normalites intend to get their goat in tomorrow's game. New suits for the players are here and will be used tomorrow.

Drew the Diamond Ring.

Miss Mattie Clayton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Clayton, held the lucky number that drew the diamond ring that was given away Thursday night at the close of the auction sale that has been conducted the past few weeks by Raines Bros.' jewelry store.

Mrs. Belle Mark and little son, Lee, left for their home in Tonganoxie, Kan., Friday morning, after a two weeks' visit with her sister, Mrs. Noble Norris.

Had Eye Removed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Dysart and baby daughter, Lola, of Bolckow, and Mrs. Dysart's brother, S. E. Andrews of Middleport, O., were Maryville visitors Thursday, and attended to some probate court business. Mr. Dysart had his right eye removed in a St. Joseph hospital last week, as the result of a long standing granular affection. Mrs. Dysart's mother, the late Mrs. George Litts of Barnard, died in a hospital in St. Joseph one day last week, following an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. O. A. Dodge and children, Helen and Alvin, went to Darlington Friday to visit until Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. McCulley.

MEETING OF FARMERS CALLED FOR SATURDAY

A meeting of the farmers along the road from the north line of Polk township to Maryville has been called for Saturday afternoon in this city at 2 o'clock. The meeting will be held in the Commercial club rooms, and is for the purpose of discussing good roads and the proposed "Saints Highway."

WHAT THE NEW SCHOOL LAW WILL DO

State Superintendent of Schools Evans has sent out the following in regard to the new law on apportionment and what this law will accomplish:

The new law on apportionment of public school funds takes effect September 1, 1911. It apportions $50 for each teacher employed. Provided, that in any district in which the average daily attendance is less than 15 pupils only $25.00 is apportioned and for every teacher whose salary is $1,000 or more per year $1000 is apportioned. This takes about one-half of the state school fund. The remainder of the fund is apportioned on the total number of days' attendance. The amount for this year would have been about $911 for each day's attendance. In general, a district can determine approximately what it will get under this law by counting $50 for each teacher employed and $911 for each day's attendance by all pupils of the district.

Some things that this new law will accomplish will be: It will encourage longer terms of country and village schools. It will increase the attendance in all schools. It will encourage the employment of the proper number of teachers. It will reward local effort.

It will meet local needs. It will remove the gross inequalities that exist under the present law.

It will prevent fraud by basing the apportionment of funds on actual school records.

It will extend school interest over the entire year instead of over one day.

It will be fair to all communities, for it distributes the school funds "for the benefit of the public schools," as provided by the constitution, and according to the amount of service rendered the state.

It will encourage the enforcement of the compulsory school law.

It will stimulate teachers to do better work.

It means better public schools for all—"The greatest good to the greatest number."

LITTS WILL FILED IN PROBATE COURT

The will of Samantha M. Litts was filed in the probate court Friday, and James L. Dysart of Barnard was appointed administrator. The will was written on October 23, 1910, and was witnessed by Jennie M. Pearce, Rena Pearce and George W. Litts.

Mrs. Litts died in a hospital at St. Joseph on May 7, and was buried at her home in Barnard.

By the terms of the will the heirs are requested not to administer on the estate, but instead to make a fair division of both real and personal property. To two grandsons, Graham Dysart and Virgil McKnight, the sum of $500 each is given. To a granddaughter, Mabel Dysart, $300 is given, and to two other grandsons, Raymond and Howard Dysart, $200 each is given. The remainder of the estate is left to a daughter, Jeannette J. Dysart, and a son, Selmer E. Andrews, share and share alike.

WERE NOT PRESENT AT DANCE, AS STATED

In the Wilcox correspondence, which was published in The Democrat-Forum of Monday, and also in the weekly, an item appeared in regard to a dance given at Wilcox last Saturday night at the L. O. O. F. hall, and several names were mentioned as being among those who danced. The people whose names were mentioned do not believe in dancing and were not present, and think that the Wilcox correspondent inserted their names probably for a joke or for some other reason unknown to these parties. The Democrat-Forum wishes to make this correction in justice to the good people, who believe they have been greatly wronged.

Parnell People in Town.
J. S. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jackson and Mrs. and Mrs. Simon Dixon of Parnell were city visitors Friday.

TO MEET TUESDAY

WHEN PERMANENT ORGANIZATION WILL BE FORMED.

TO BE WELL ATTENDED

As Representatives Along the Entire Line from Des Moines to St. Joseph Will Be Present.

Another good roads meeting of the Des Moines and St. Joseph Trail association will be held in Maryville on next Tuesday, when a permanent organization of the trail from Des Moines to St. Joseph will be formed.

This meeting will be an important one, and a large number of people who are interested in the movement will attend.

At Thursday's meeting held in this city it was planned to see that the Hopkins-Pickering people and the "Ridge" people were working hard for the proposed trail. It is thought probable that both routes could be chosen.

A committee of George B. Baker, Thad Wilderman and U. S. Wright was appointed to raise money to fix up the east state road.

At Tuesday's meeting delegations will be present from all of the towns in Iowa that are on the proposed trail and from all the towns in this part of the state from Bedford to St. Joseph, including Hopkins, Pickering, Parnell, Havenwood, Maryville, Barnard, Bolckow, Rosendale, Savannah and St. Joseph.

The St. Joseph News-Press, in speaking of the Saints Trail, says:

St. Joseph is to be the southern terminus of the Saints Highway, a broad, King-dragged earth road running from St. Paul south through Minnesota and Iowa to St. Joseph. The name, as may be seen, has been derived from the nomenclature of the highways terminating cities. Work of promoting the Saints Highway is being conducted from St. Paul, and members of the St. Joseph Automobile club have been requested to co-operate. Following the plan adopted by the promoters of the Des Moines, St. Joseph and Kansas City interstate trail, which the local motor club also is helping to promote, the Saints Highway is expected to be in condition, mapped, marked and ready for use before fall.

Promotion of the Saints Highway from St. Joseph north well into Iowa is to be taken up promptly and Maryville's co-operation is counted upon to ensure the success of the highway.

Local motorists will go to Maryville next Tuesday and meet with the Maryville Automobile club to consider further plans for pushing the work.

Maryville probably will not be on the Des Moines, St. Joseph and Kansas City interstate trail and for that reason it is expected to give valuable assistance in advancing the interests of the Saints Highway. It also is generally understood that a cross-over will be built from Maryville to a point on the Des Moines-St. Joseph-Kansas City line.

Attended Lodge of Instruction.

Mrs. F. P. Reuillard, worthy matron of the Maryville Eastern Star lodge, went to Elmo Thursday night to assist the state lecturer, Miss Genevieve Wyatt of St. Louis, in her work with the Elmo lodge. A luncheon followed the business session. Mrs. J. D. Wade is worthy matron of the Elmo lodge.

Mrs. J. N. Nethers and daughter, Opal, of Bedford, Ia., were shopping in the city Friday.

The Weather

Fair tonight and Saturday; not much change in temperature.

The beginning of eye troubles

Usually come very gradually. Often for years there are indications that the sight is failing. It's a great mistake not to heed these first signs. Those who get glasses at the first indication of something wrong miss a lot of suffering. But no matter in what shape your eyes are in, there is always relief at our optical department.

PROBLEMS OF IMMIGRATION.

The Southern Commercial congress, says the Moberly Monitor, which is organized for the purpose of advertising and developing the resources of the south, faces a problem associated with the question of immigration.

Statistics show that the immigration to this country from 1813 to 1883 was 87 per cent North European, from such countries as Great Britain, Germany, France, Norway, Sweden and Denmark. People of the same origin and racial instincts as those who established our civilization and settled our country. Whose aspirations are akin to our own in the matter of perpetuating the purity of the race has been kept pure from inbreeding with alien types of the race.

Since 1883 there has been a reversal of the tide of emigration, and in 1897 the per centage of immigration was 81 per cent Southern European. This means Italy, Greece, Portugal, Albania, Hungary, etc. People who have not been accustomed to the forms of government that exist among the Saxons and Teutonic races. They come here with their feuds and antagonism to government, and not knowing our system, oppose the regular authority here just as they were opposed to it in the countries from which they come.

Letters of inquiry from the National Liberal Immigration league to the director of the Southern Commercial congress, were sent out asking the position of the congress regarding the encouragement of immigration to the south.

Responding, C. Grosvenor Dowe, managing director, expressed the views of the south regarding the character of immigration desired by the south in the following:

"The south, as a whole, represented by its most careful thinkers and statesmen, is demanding that the immigrants who come to the south shall be willing to measure up to three standards.

"First—That they shall sympathize with the governmental ideals of this country.

"Second—That they shall come to America with the intention of making it a permanent home.

"Third—That they shall regard the paramount claims of racial purity. If they fail in either of these tests, they are not wanted in the south. In taking such a position, the southern states are neither narrow, nor selfish, nor un-American, but are seeking to maintain and perpetuate the progressive spirit which has been characteristic of the American people since the task of subduing a continent was placed before it in the eighteenth century; when the colonies ceased to be such and became a nation."

This is a sensible and comprehensive demand. The south already has a race problem on its hands and should demand there shall be no new complications of this character to meet.

Immigration is one of the serious problems America is facing. The Jap and the Chink, the Greek and Albanian and Pole, the hordes of the Tartar and Calmuck, none of them is sufficiently acquainted with republican form of government to appreciate the aspirations of the race. The only way in which these hordes of immigrants can become assimilated is by controlling the right of suffrage. Even then it is questionable whether the taint of heredity will not draw them away from the principles of representative government.

Mrs. H. P. Swinehart, wife of Prof. Swinehart of the Normal school, was operated upon Thursday for appendicitis at St. Francis hospital. Mrs. Swinehart stood the operation well and is getting along as nicely as could be expected.

them all around, and they were his slaves. He would play preaching, and made a pulpit in the flower garden, and they were always his faithful congregation. When a chicken died they would have a funeral the boy preached the sermon and the three sisters were the mourners, and screamed and groaned through the service.

The old garden could tell of another day. It was a Sunday in the long ago. We had all been forcedly light-hearted all that day, trying to forget the solemn evening. For on the morrow the boy was going away to college. The little trunk had been packed by the mother and sisters, and afterwards, when he opened it he found in the bottom four letters—in each was love and tears and money. Fairly prayers were very imperfect that night. The father tried to read and said he could not see, that there was something the matter with the light, and when he knelt down, he choked up and could not pray. He was ashamed of it, but he could not help it. Then the woman and the boy went into the flower garden. What was said may not be told. It was for the most part talk without words. But the flowers knew. The dew on them got into the eyes of both the boy and the mother.

The garden was never the same again, save twice; one time was when the boy brought his bride home, and the other time when the children all came home again, some of them bringing their children with them. It was a happy week, but I noticed that there were tears in the eyes of the old people when they laughed. The children sat on the porch that last night, and talked long after the little ones and the old people were in bed. They talked of the old days until they were silent. Then they spoke of tomorrow's separation, and of how hard it would be for the old people. Gratefully they spoke of the chance in life that had been given them through the sacrifices of their father and mother. They began to regret the hardships, the isolation, the drudgery of those two who had literally laid down their lives for them. "What a tragedy mother's life has been," said one. "She was born here in this valley, she was married here, here she has been a slave. How she has toiled and planned and sacrificed and prayed. She was so beautiful and brilliant when she was a girl. She has been so strong and so splendid all through the years. If she had only had a chance! It seems a cruel tragedy." When he ceased there was no sound save that of a quiet foot-step. Then she, whom we had thought asleep, came with her wistful, transfigured face, shining more beautiful than it had seemed in the long ago. "Listen, my children," she said. "It is not as you think. I have not slept tonight, but it is for gladness and not sorrow. I am never lonely any more. Joy and I are companions. God has been good to me and called me to a high honor. My children are all that I prayed and hoped they would be and I am very happy, because it is for you that I have lived." Stooping to kiss each one she went into the house. In her simplicity and sweetness, she always reminded me of an old-fashioned flower, that might have been larger and more brilliant with better culture, but never could have been more beautiful.

Woman's crown is motherhood, that is what the woman in the flower garden said. But the crown is often of thorns. I think it is this that makes us love them so, now that we understand. The children used to wonder why mother never got a new dress or a new hat, and when they asked her she said she didn't care. And they never understood how she had crucified her hunger for pretty things, and smothered her tastes and desires. But they know now. They thought that it was an eccentricity that made her choose the neck of a chicken for her portion, the hard end of a loaf, the burnt bit of meat; why she never had any appetite when the dishes were scanty, or the first fresh mess of good things came out of the garden. Ah! If we had only known. But we know now. For each of her children, she went down into the Valley of the Shadow, only to come up waned and weak and pale, to take upon herself the slavery of motherhood. For years, never to know rest by day, or to have a single night's unbroken sleep. Often than not, she was sick and nerve-worn and weary unto death, but she never failed to rally to the call of "Mother," like a good soldier rallies to the call of battle. Nobody called her brave, yet when the child came down with malignant diphtheria, she braved death a hundred times in ministering to the little sufferer. And when the little one was laid away under the sod, she who had loved most was the first to pull herself together and take up the burden for the others.

There is no love like a mother's love. Filial love asks certain obedience and respect of rights, if the love is to continue. Conjugal love requires courtesies and constant feeding of the flame, if it is to love. But a mother's love burns on, a self-sustaining flame. Time cannot dim it, neglect cannot chill it, sin cannot destroy it. If a man does wrong, first the public will withdraw from him, then his associates, then his relatives, his wife, brothers, sisters, and even his father. Then where does he go? Who is it that keeps on thinking well of him after everybody else thinks ill of him? Who is it that holds no grudge, and forgives the last time as well as the first, and believes in him after all others have lost faith? Who will follow him into prison, and sit by him through the long trial, and go upon the scaffold with him, and will put into the last kiss the same deathless love that she put into her first? His mother! God bless her gray hairs if she is alive, and bless her grave if she is gone.

I think the most tragically beautiful thing in all the Bible is that one short sentence in the story of the crucifixion: "There stood by the cross of Jesus His mother." There is nothing in all the Bible that goes quite to my heart like that. The multitudes whom He had taught and fed and healed and helped were not there. The treacherous disciple had betrayed Him, the boastful disciple had denied Him, they all had forsaken Him and fled; but "there stood by the cross of Jesus His mother." What a pitiless storm beat about that poor lone woman! What thoughts crowded in upon her poor tired brain! It seemed but yesterday that she had held Him in her arms and kissed His baby lips; but yesterday that they had walked hand in hand through the woods and wild flowers, her heart full of mother pride at His quick intelligence and His winsome ways. And now He was dying—dying before her eyes, but beyond her reach, dying like a vile criminal; the rulers of her nation, and the leaders of her religion, looking on in scornful hatred, and the rabble shouting insults. And she, standing there alone, in all the world the only one who still believed in Him. For was He not hers? Had she not borne Him? Had she not loved Him and called Him "Son?" and had He not loved her and called her "Mother?" Yes, come what will, He was still hers and she will be with Him unto the end. "And there stood by the cross of Jesus His mother."

If I were changed on the highest hill,
Mother o'mine,
I know whose love would follow me still

Mother o'mine,
If I were drowned in the deepest sea

Mother o'mine,
I know whose tears would come down to me

Mother o'mine,
If I were damned of body and soul

Mother o'mine,
I know whose prayers would make me whole
Mother o'mine.

PROVISIONAL CABINET NAMED

Insurrectos Are Organizing a Government at Juarez.

FEDERAL ARMY ON WAY NORTH

Force Marching From Chihuahua Will Be Intercepted at Casas Grandes. Insurrectos Preparing to Ask for More Liberal Terms From Diaz.

Juarez, Mex., May 12.—With Juarez and all its vast stores of rifles, ammunition and quick-firing guns in the hands of Mexican revolutionists, the leaders turned to the task of forming their government. They gathered for the first time in the provisional capital of the rebellion torn republic.

After a long conference between insurrecto chiefs, the appointment of the following members of the provisional cabinet was announced:

Minister of Foreign Relations—Dr. Vasquez Gomez.
Minister of Finance—Gustave A. Madero.
Minister of War—Venustiano Carranza.
Minister of Interior—P. Gonzales Garza.
Minister of Justice—Jose M. Pino Suarez.

Rebels Will Go to Meet Rabago. Madero is determined not only to hold Juarez against any attack, but to prevent a fight in this vicinity, if possible. Plans were being laid at the insurrecto headquarters for a force of several hundred men to march south to meet General Rabago, the federal leader, who is reported to be on his way here from Chihuahua with a good sized army. The rebels already have about 300 men at Casas Grandes and probably will open fire on Rabago when he arrives. It is not known what chief will be sent south from Juarez.

The town is quiet for the first time in several days. The inhabitants slept peacefully in their homes while insurrecto sentries stood guard.

General Navarro, who was paroled, with his officers, spent the night in the same house with General Francisco I. Madero, Jr. Though the federal commander now has been given the liberty of the city, he does not deem it safe to be seen much about town, because there are said to be several insurrectos who cherished a grudge against him for alleged bayoneting of the wounded in other battles of the revolution.

Though the revolutionists are flushed with victory and some of them eager to pursue the fight with increasing vigor throughout Mexico until the capital of the republic, where the recalcitrant government is seated, shall have fallen, conservative rebel leaders are hoping that the bloody battle of Juarez will be the last chapter of the military side of the revolution. Having demonstrated their strength in the field, they now wish to turn their attention to the argument of words and public opinion.

Revising Demands on Diaz.

Comfortably lodged in their new provisional capital, the taking of which the rebels declare will make prospects of recognition by foreign powers much brighter, the rebel political leaders are conferring with General Madero and revising the demands made before the battle. They are strengthening them somewhat and will continue to insist on a real participation in governmental affairs.

The rebels have taken the stand that their demand that General Diaz make public merely his intention of resigning has been met with such a vague and laughy reply that they now will demand the fixing of an exact time for his retirement.

Orozco Blocks Bridge.

General Orozco, commander of the rebel forces, had blood in his eye as he stood at the international bridge and refused to permit anyone from El Paso to cross into Juarez, even though they had passes from Colonel Steever through the American lines. It appears that General Orozco and his staff were invited to a banquet by Mayor Kelly of El Paso and the American troops would not permit Orozco and his officers to cross.

The situation with regard to the passage of persons and supplies back and forth is rapidly becoming aggravated and there was considerable apprehension that trouble might be precipitated. Colonel Steever had only instructions from Washington, the authorities there having withheld specific orders as to how to deal with the de facto government in Juarez.

Inquiry Into Wool Rates.

Washington, May 12.—A comprehensive investigation of alleged unreasonable freight rates on wool, hides and pelts from western points of origin to eastern points was ordered by the interstate commerce commission. The inquiry will affect wool, hides and pelts rates throughout the country.

Wendling Loses His Appeal.

WOMAN AND SON
KILLED BY TRAIN

Dead Are Mrs. A. L. Craig and Son of Lyons, Neb.

OMAHA TRAIN STRIKES WAGON.

Four Members of Crew Injured, Two of Them Seriously, and Passengers Badly Shaken Up in Remarkable Derailment.

Sioux City, Ia., May 12.—Two persons were killed and four injured, two seriously, in a remarkable accident on the Omaha road near Lyons, Neb.

The dead: Mrs. A. L. Craig of Lyons, Neb.; John Craig, son of Mrs. Craig.

The injured: Dan Murphy of Sioux City, engineer, seriously; L. I. Rockwell of Sioux City, fireman; J. J. Gilmore of Omaha, baggage man; A. C. Rawson of Omaha, mail clerk.

A passenger train from Omaha to Sioux City struck a wagon in which Mrs. Craig and her son were riding at a crossing near Lyons, killing both. Pieces of the wrecked wagon lodged in a switch and derailed the train. The passengers escaped with a shaking up.

Craig is said to have whipped his horses and attempted to drive across the tracks, while two other farmers shouted warnings. He had a load of grain and was bound for the grist mill in Lyons. According to the witnesses, the two farmers who held their horses at the track shouted to Craig as he drove up, warning him the train was too close to pass. "Never mind, I'll show you," Craig is said to have answered back. Thereupon he applied the whip to his team and passed around the other farmers. The engine struck Craig's wagon in front, cutting the horses loose and killing them instantly, and dragging the wagon, with its occupants, to their death. One of the singletrees of the wagon struck in the switch rail, throwing it out of place and causing the engine and baggage and mail cars to run off the rails. The occupants of the train fell into wild panic in the collision.

Mrs. Sully maintained that the money was not lent, but had been given her to aid her husband when he was in difficulties.

Kansas City, May 12.—Colonel William G. Cummings, a veteran of the civil war and friend and comrade of General Custer, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. J. Haskell, here, aged seventy-two. DIPLOMATS IN MEXICO
TALK OVER SITUATION

Plan for Concerted Action to Protect Foreigners if Necessary.

Mexico City, May 12.—Members of the diplomatic corps resident in Mexico City met in the United States embassy upon invitation of Henry Wilson, the United States ambassador, to plan concerted action for the protection of aliens in the event that the situation in the capital reaches a stage necessitating the taking of measures to defend themselves.

An atmosphere of deep gloom pervades the federal offices. Mr. De La Barra seemed to have lost hope of immediate peace. At the national palace the officials looked gloomy. None had a word to say publicly regarding the situation.

In the streets the news was read and discussed unobtrusively. More disquieting news reached the war department, it being from a state heretofore little disturbed. Camarago, a town in the state of Tamaulipas, is threatened by rebels. As the town is protected by only a small body of troops, it is feared it will fall an easy prey to the insurgents.

DOUBLE SUICIDE IN PEORIA

Frank Hoffman and Wife, Once Well-to-Do, Take Poison While Despondent.

Peoria, Ill., May 12.—Despondent with no means of proper maintenance in the future and fearing starvation, Frank Hoffman and his wife, Lou E. Hoffman, at one time well-to-do, committed suicide by swallowing poison. The bodies were discovered by John B. McGowan, a neighbor, who immediately notified the coroner.

SCALP ITCH GOES.

Parishan Sage Gets to the Hair Roots and Nourishes the Hair.

Give Parishan Sage a chance to drive every particle of disgusting dandruff from your hair.

Give it a chance to soak into the hair roots and stop the hair from falling out.

You won't be sorry if you do—you'll be dandruff dirty all your life if you don't.

And when you get a bottle of Parishan Sage you are not throwing any money away because it is guaranteed by Koch Pharmacy to eradicate dandruff; to stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks, or money back.

Parishan Sage kills the dandruff germ because of its peculiar power to get to the roots of the hair, right where the germs thrive and multiply.

But besides killing the germs it supplies nourishment to the hair; stops it from falling out, and causes it to grow thick and luxuriant.

Parishan Sage is a most delightful hair dressing, not sticky or greasy. A large bottle for only 50 cents at Koch Pharmacy and druggists everywhere, or by mail charges prepaid by Groux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Tongue Twister.

"Yes, I'll tell you about it, John, dear. You see, I was in such haste, and I just flew through the gate and flung my ticket to the ticket checker—"

"There, there! Don't talk so fast, little woman; you mean the chicken tipper."

"Ha, ha! You're as bad as I am! Of course I mean the chicken tipper."

"Well, what's the matter with you? Go on, you flung your ticket to the ticket checker."

"The chicken tocker—"

"The tipper chocker—"

"The chopper ticker—"

"Oh, the chickens! Next time do take a surface car!"—Life.

Forehanded Workmen.

An industrial commission appointed by congress was conducting certain investigations with reference to the operation of mills and factories in various parts of the country.

The investigators were in one mill in a southwestern state when the whistle blew for noon. The operatives put up their tools and vanished as if by magic.

"Do all workmen drop their tools the instant the whistle blows?" one of the commission asked.

"No not all," the man who was acting as guide answered. "The more orderly have their tools all put away before that time."—Lippencott's Magazine.

Repetition means reputation, but the story must be repeated in such a way that it will always bring out some new feature of the article advertised, and never tire the reader.

Saving money is like

planting your garden

WHEN you plant money in the bank you expect it to bring you a harvest of profit and pleasure—same as your garden.

And like the produce of your garden it grows best with careful attention—till it becomes a harvest—a fortune. Now is "planting time." Think it over.
